About This Game

One quiet night, the world suddenly collapsed, the ground crumbled and the gravity disoriented... Many of the humans were exiled from this world they had been living. Masters and their mannequins were forced to separate. Only through mobile phones can the Master see his beloved Elly once again. On the other hand, Elly was desperate to find its Master soon after waking up.

During its journey, Elly found out that, to see its Master again, all it needed to do was to assemble the mirror. Yet they would not be able to touch each other as there will a screen standing in between. Meanwhile, eerie human-like shadows were lurking in the dark...

[Features]

- Combination of action and puzzle games; unique collaborative gameplay of mannequins and players;
- Bubble blowing is introduced in the game to defeat monsters and work as an in-game flying tool as well as bring back childhood memories to players;

Very good graphics and realistic 3Dish mission battles, great sound if you like the sound, needs more players and it would really take off and be a great multi-player. Try it a week or two or maybe a month to get to tier 5 vehicles and it gets a lot better. Takes patience and some training to learn techniques but it is fun.

. A great fun-racer a little bit unbalanced with the special abilities, but very funny with friends on steam or in a group. I like it, buy the dlcs when its on a steam special sale...

and many more..... the most economical way to add time to my subscription of EVE. I hate to give the game a negative review, but since it keeps crashing on me and it won't load my save files and continues to make me start at the beginning I can't recommend this one. It does look like some mindless fun but there is no point in keeping a game that won't allow me to save. Plus, the other versions of this game on iPhone/iPad/3ds have the full cut-scenes and appears to be the full game so this seems like a rip off.

I have no idea why the steam version is so horrible.. I happened upon "The Story Goes On" whilst I was browsing through the r/gamedesign subreddit. I am thoroughly enjoyed by this game and its design. I could ask for a greater rouge-like dungeon exploring game, and my response --for the time being-- would be fruitless. This game merges beautifully the dungeon crawling experience I have so assiduously obtained from a "Legend of Zelda" title, and the rogue-like arcade aspect I have cherished from a plethora of games. This game is worth your money, and will merger the enjoyment you can concieve from other games in its genre.

I had this as a kid and picked it up for nostalgia. It doesn't really hold up for me. You end up playing through the exact same level over and over until you survive and can go on to the next one. This was fine with me in the 90s, but there are better games now.. Liberal propaganda.. Played this during early access, and now with full release it just keeps getting better.

5 stars out of 5 :D

. Nice regular top-down shooter with co-op option. Absolutely recommended!. Creepy yes but seriously wtf how do you survive? I just keep getting killed. I realised you can hide in the wardrobe but it seems impossible to get past the dolls once they are roaming around.... OH YES YES YES OH GODS YES!! I'm gonna break the cardinal rule here and score a solid 10/10

The Music of Awesomenauts has always been one of the best parts of the game in In My Glorious Opinion. This gives you all the character themes, the stage themes, the killing spree themes and some bonus themes.

If you like the Awesomenauts music. BUY THIS. If you don't like the music of awesomenauts well you probably aren't even on this page much less reading this review so to you who are not ever going to see this I will just say:

SpankthecheesewithOstrichfeathers

Seriously. I honestly cannot find any fault with this. All the music I like in the game in a form I can use as my ringtone. The tracks are in both MP3 Good quality and in FLAC which is a heavier though more accurate compression format. I.e It's mostly Lossless from what I have heard.

Oh as a note. The rule of thumb is as new content is added the soundtrack is automatically updated so it may likely contain more tracks than actually listed in the store page. The Devs, seem to be just a little slow in updating that or perhaps it gets lost in the to-do-list of all the other content additions.
